

The Mountain

A place of pleasure and freedom, Le Massif offers 410 acres of skiable terrain and a 770 meter vertical drop, the largest difference in altitude east of the Canadian Rockies. Locals and visitors alike ski in Charlevoix to enjoy the visual beauty of the region and the neighbouring islands. Flying down the slopes, you have the impression of sliding right into the St. Lawrence, there where the water turns salty, at the gateway to the ocean.

Forty-eight dazzling ski trails share the snowy expanse, while glades of varying levels of difficulty ramp up the challenge. There are runs for absolutely everyone, from beginner to expert. In fact, an Olympic-sized training trail allows athletes to surpass themselves day after day in preparation for the international competitions that are held there.

Beyond its exceptional ski area, this impressive mountain offers lodging, restaurants with a distinctive, healthy menu (no fried foods!), and an après-ski that is worth the trip, places of learning and entertainment and much, much more. La Base, at the foot of the mountain, and Le Sommet at its summit, will provide a departure from the ordinary by their typical environment and multitude of original activities, along with the memorable experiences and atmosphere that will be created there.

Facts about the existing skiable terrain

- Natural annual snowfall of more than 600 cm
- Terrain Park and beginners' slope
- Permanent exhibit of works by local painters
- Three panoramic chalets and a mid-mountain terrace
- Free guided tours of the mountain
- Exclusive Rossignol boutique and equipment rental
- Snow school
- National alpine skiing training centre where speed events (downhill and giant slalom) are held on slopes that total 2 200 metres in length and where the steepest incline is 64% (33°).

Facts about the planned development

- 30% extension of the skiable terrain
- Development of Mount à Liguori, another skiable area of the mountain, and guided off-piste skiing
- New slopes, new lifts
- Food service halfway up the mountain
- 10-km long family luge trail (becomes a bike trail in summer)

La Base (the Base of the Mountain)

Located at the west end of the charming village of Petite-Rivière-Saint-François alongside the St. Lawrence, La Base offers numerous services and activities. This breathtaking spot meets every expectation by offering lodging for every taste, with unique signature housing, creating memorable experiences in the great outdoors and absolute well-being. In addition, its layout and programming invite visitors to discover the beauty of the riverside and learn about its natural phenomena.

La Base is also a place to pass through and stop over in, conducive to an appreciation of the river and mountainside. It is where the train station, funicular and four-season ski lifts are located. A place of affluence and splendour, La Base promises healthy liveliness or a well-deserved rest, depending on what you are looking for.
